

Parents' ABC

Attention

I will show respect to my child. I will listen to what they say. I will try to understand how they are feeling.

Boundaries

I will give my child clear, firm rules and boundaries. They will know which will not change and which might be talked about and negotiated.

Calm

I will speak with a calm voice. I will not shout or yell at my child. I will not say unkind words.

Discipline

I will explain what is expected and the consequences. I will take away privileges for bad behaviour. I will not hit my child.

Encourage

I will give praise that tells my child what they did was good and why. I will give positive feedback, rewards, smiles and hugs to encourage repeated good behaviour.

Choices for Children

Explain expected behaviour

"John and Anne stop fighting now. Thank you."

If they stop fighting allow them to keep playing

IF THEY DON'T RESPOND

Repeat the expected behaviour and the consequence

"Stop fighting NOW or you will both spend time-out on a chair for 5 minutes."

"You chose not to stop fighting. Sit apart for 5 minutes and calm down then we will talk about why fighting is not okay."

- A Always remain calm, whatever the child's reaction may be.
- B Be consistent. Do not give in.
- Choices after talking about why the behaviour is not acceptable, give the child another chance to make the right choice a little later.

Family Meetings

Family meetings help families talk calmly about roles, rules and respect. Everyone has a turn to speak while others listen.

Parents show respect to their children by sometimes negotiating rules. Children show respect to parents by following rules.

Family meetings are also a good time to recognise children's positive behaviour and praise them for it.

	Family Agreement
	I agree to keep these family rules. I understand that if I choose not to follow them, there will be a loss of privileges
